The DAKO brand is a well-recognised and trusted producer of comprehensive joinery for the house, offering high-performance PVC, timber and aluminium windows and doors as well as external shutters and garage doors. The family business, which has been on the market since 1994, comprehensively supplies its customers from all corners of the world – the brand's products are currently available in several countries in Europe, Asia, and North America.

DAKO is also a reliable and trustworthy partner in business. For almost 30 years the company has been successfully realising long-term cooperation with distributors, developers, and architects. Full range of products available in a wide variety of materials and extensive production, sales and logistics background make the company a trustworthy and reliable supplier of joinery.

This year also visitors to the Fit Show exhibition will have the opportunity to get to know the DAKO brand, take a closer look at the products and enter into direct cooperation talks. This year's exhibition plans of the manufacturer also include this biggest event of the construction industry in the UK.

DAKO joinery in the UK

The main purpose of the brand's presence at the exhibition is to present the key products from a wide portfolio of the brand, which is confidently taking its steps in the UK market, systematically expanding the group of its customers here.

As Jolanta Nowak, DAKO Sales Director of the UK Market, said:

We see a great interest in our products on the market, hence the idea to show up at the exhibition, where apart from the possibility to see and test live the brand's products, we also have a great opportunity to, using the presence of our team, directly present and discuss the terms of cooperation to encourage business and long-term cooperation.

The DAKO stand will certainly feature, among others, DA-SkyLine patio sliding door with concealed frame, whose innovative design has already managed to win recognition in professional circles – we are curious if this solution will arouse equal interest on the islands! There will also be a presentation of the bestselling window systems in aluminium joinery as well as PVC and timber joinery. The complexity of the offer is the biggest asset of the manufacturer; therefore the stand will also feature modern external doors, garage doors and external protection systems – roller blinds and shutters.

We encourage you to visit the DAKO stand, which may be found under number P41 and visit the official website of the brand www.dako.eu (linking to <https://www.dako.eu/uk/about-us>)
